(Sault Ste. Marie, ON April 20, 2010) A highlight of Sault College's Graphic Design program is the Graduate Exhibit Show. Every year, graduates of this program showcase their talents by displaying the pieces they have created throughout their time at the College.

The purpose of this show is to promote local talents who will be looking for work upon graduation next month. It is also a great way for high school students or those interested in the graphic design industry to learn about a field that may be of interest to them. This family friendly event is a great opportunity for anyone to see new upcoming local artists who are excited to pursue a career in the graphic design industry.

“Upon successful completion of the third year, students will leave this program with a portfolio that demonstrates a multitude of creative and design skills,” says Frank Salituri, Coordinator, Sault College Graphic Design program. “Students are responsible to plan all aspects of the show including promotion and marketing. The design show is the final project that enables our students to prepare themselves for a career in this industry,” says Salituri.

There will be a multitude of displays to view including artwork, packaging, brand identity, typographic artwork, photography and more. Food and beverages are also available and there is no cost for admission. This event will be held in the Sault College Gallery.
