A Wacky Partnership

(Sault Ste. Marie, ON September 1, 2010) Sault College School of Business and Wacky Wings have partnered to host a Scholarship Fund-raising Blitz held at both Wacky Wings locations from September 7 - September 30, 2010. Wacky Wings will donate proceeds of sales to create a scholarship for a Sault College Business student.

“The partnership grew out of faculty and alumni support,” says Alyssa Scali, General Manager of Wacky Wings. “As a business graduate of Sault College, I understand how beneficial it is to receive some extra money to assist with the costs of getting a quality education. We’re happy to assist in any way we can,” says Scali.

Everyone is invited to come out and see Wacky Wings’ employees dressed in Sault College t-shirts and enter their names in a draw to win prizes. In order to qualify for various draws, patrons are asked to present a Sault College student card, Sault College staff identification or a ballot to Wacky Wings servers.

“We are thrilled with this partnership between a local business Wacky Wings and The School of Business for such a great cause, says Penny Perrier, Chair, School of Business and Hospitality,

Shawna DePlonty, Professor at Sault College and Alyssa Scali, General Manager of Wacky Wings prepare for the Sault College Business Scholarship fund-raising blitz

Sault College. I will most definitely bring my family for some Wings and encourage my friends and colleagues to support this partnership.”

A number of prizes have been donated by local organizations and will be drawn on September 30th. Prizes include: All-you-can-eat-wings for one-year courtesy of Wacky Wings, a Blackberry courtesy of Bell Station Mall, a laptop courtesy of Dell, a one-year Sault College student parking pass courtesy of Sault College and gift cards from local businesses.

“The opportunity to work with Sault College staff to help raise money for the Sault College Scholarship Fund is very exciting,” say Damon and Craig Burgess, owners of Wacky Wings. “We look forward to working with the friendly students and staff to make this fund raising event a huge success for Sault College.”

The Wacky Wings Business Scholarship will be presented on an annual basis to a Business, Business-Accounting or Business Management student who meets the scholarship criteria.
